IMPROVED GIANT PANSIES
Everyone is fond of Pansies, and every one, rich or poor, should have a bed of them. They are easily grown and a constant delight. For the largest and finest Pansies, he seed must be sown in the early fall. It is best to plant in the open ground in August. After the seedlings have time to form very strong roots before the ground freezes. The last of November is probably the proper time, but if the young seedlings are covered with a covering of leaves or straw about three inches deep, grown in this manner, early, rollicking and large Pansies will result. When the seed is sown late, the young seedlings must be wintered over in cold frames and will still produce much earlier and larger flowers than from spring sown seed.

Most Popular of All Hardy Plants, and Growing in Favor.

Everyone knows the old-time "Pigey" of our grandmother's garden, and how indispensable they were. Now, since we have many vastly improved varieties, no garden is complete where they are omitted. They begin blooming almost at once, yet do not reach their highest perfection until about the third season. An abundance of water while growing, and when in bloom, is good also. They are profuse bloomers and rival the finest rose in beautiful colors. Foliage rich and massive; a handsome plant, even when not in bloom, whether planted alone on the lawn or with other plants or shrubs.

They are the only strawberries that will give you fruit in the first season and no special care. Progressive is the best variety of them.

Progressive—We prefer the variety known as “Progressive.” It originated in Iowa, and is a cross between one of the French ever-bearing sorts and Senator Dunlap, the best of the regular American varieties. It has come to stay, and the sooner you get started with it, the better. Get started this fall by all means.
